The classes, that have been running since two months, are conducted by the Kerala State Literacy Mission Authority. The second phase of the literacy programme 'Changathi' saw the participation of more than 70 working women from the Park. The majority of 'students' are from Odisha.

The programme, the pilot run of which was held at Perumbavoor, aims at teaching Malayalam – both reading and writing. "This will go a long way in empowering them and putting a check on their exploitation. Those who want to pursue higher education can do so," said P S Sreekala, Director, Literacy Mission. "It will also improve their standard of living," she added.

The classes are led by Kavitha P, Welfare Officer at Texport Industries Pvt. Ltd., one of the firms where the women are employed. The classes are conducted on weekdays after their work hours and on weekends for those who miss the weekday classes.

Once the women master the letters in 15-20 days, they are introduced to 'Hamari Malayalam', where they get to learn the words that are used in markets and banks.

"We are happy to see the progress women are making. However, men are yet to welcome the idea and we hope that they will also join soon," says Jeeva Anandan, MD, KINFRA Apparel Park.
